J. Wood Celebrates 93rd Birthday

Mr. James Wood, resident of the Irma district for the past 41 years celebrated his 93rd birthday on Monday, March 30. Mr. Wood, who enjoys a remarkably good health and whose Irish wit has still to be very much reckoned with, if he engages in conversation, spent a happy birthday in his home here with many old friends dropping in to extend good wishes and to partake of tea, sandwiches and birthday cake. Mr. Wood had made the ham sandwiches himself and we doubt if the combined genius of all the Irma ladies could construct any daintier or tastier ones.

Mr. Wood was born in Clollan township, 1 mile from Warren St. Co. Down Ireland. At the age of 13 he commenced work in the Provision stores at Liverpool. At 15 he ran away to sea on a sailing ship as deck boy. His first voyage was from Liverpool to Bombay, 144 days. Bombay to Calcutta, 75 days. Calcutta to New York, 244 days. New York to Liverpool, 30 days.

Mr. Wood continued a sailor's life for 9 years and then he came when signing on for a voyage the agreement included the following rations. 1 1/2 lbs. salt beef 3 times per week. 1 1/2 lbs. salt pork 3 times per week. Canned Australian mutton every Sunday, 3 quarts of water per day for all purposes. 2 oz. of tea, 14 oz. of sugar, 14 oz. of butter, 1/2 lb. coffee per week. 3 oz. lime juice daily. Pea soup three times a week and 1 1/2 lbs. sea biscuit per day. He and Captain held he could bring aboard tobacco and a box of cheap clothing to sell to the sailors but these were not in the agreement.

The men must supply own bed, bedding and own dishes, both for storing rations and for eating purposes.

On the death of his father Mr. Wood returned to Ireland and in 1884 he brought his mother and only sister to Canada. He spent 2 years in Eastern Canada, 2 years in North Dakota, 13 years in Manitoba, 1 year in B.C. and 4 years in Strathcona before coming to Irma in 1908.

When we think of all the places Mr. Wood must have seen in his adventurous life, what a compliment he paid our district in choosing it for his permanent home.

This spring he plans to garden as usual and when the blizzard of last month kept him at home for a day or two he merrily feasted on pork and beans and beef hash which he had canned himself last season. When you looked at the 93 on his birthday cake from one side it looked like 36 and no wonder.

Glen-Coa Gleanings

Mrs. A. James and Mr. Arthur Russell arrived home by plane to Edmonton on March 26 after a three month's trip to England. Mrs. James had a delightful holiday, but Mr. Russell was ill a great deal through the winter. We trust our good Alberta sunshine will be the tonic Mr. Russell needs to restore him to good health.

This week-end brings the College students and others home for the holiday season.

Mr. Carl Gulbra attended the Fat Stock Show Sale in Edmonton last week. Carl took a couple of his fine animals up also.

There will be a service at Sharon on Good Friday at 8 p.m.

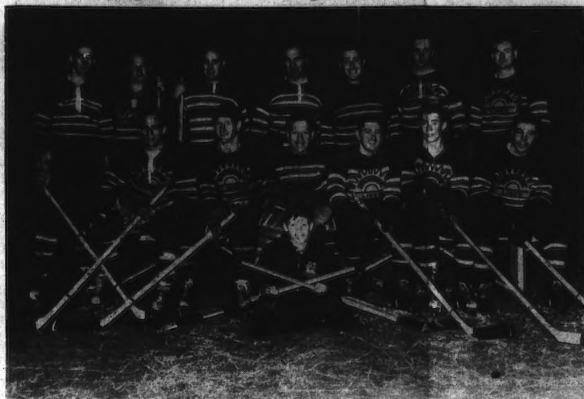

On Easter Sunday the service is again in the evening at 8 p.m.

Presentations Made to Viking Lions At Banquet Held In Their Honor

(From The Viking News)

The hockey season ended officially for the Viking Lions last Wednesday evening when a banquet was held in their honor at the Viking Hotel. A good substantial menu was served to which all did ample justice. Presiding as master of ceremonies was Selmer Hasfo who stated that through the co-operation of the citizens of the town and district the banquet was a recognition of the high class of hockey played by the team during the past season in the new Eastern Alberta Hockey League which was formed this year and their fine record in making the finals in their first year in the league.

Speakers were Ken Hilliker, a member of the league executive, Laurie Rasmussen, manager and sub-goalie and Bob Proulx, coach. Ken Hilliker outlined the duties of the executive whose job it was to keep records of the games as well as the scores, penalties and points made by the players. He had enjoyed his connection with the team as well as the executive. Manager Laurie Rasmussen was pleased about the showing of the team in their first year in the league. Rasmussen looked after the transportation and a myriad of other duties in connection with the team's activities besides taking the odd turn in goal. He felt the team had been a credit to the community as a whole.

Bob Proulx, coach, spoke of the good spirit the team had shown during the season and drew the largest crowds of fans at their home games, win or lose. He thought that perhaps his method of coaching had not been pleasing to the team at times, but it was meant for the best. He mentioned that probably a few of the players wanted to "put the gloves on with him" at times, but instead went out on the ice with a fighting spirit that won many a hockey game this year. The co-operation he had received was splendid. He predicted that no matter who coaches the team next season they would win the playoffs.

Engraved the clasp and photos were presented to each member of the team including the stick boy. A check for $100.00 was presented and was made to Coach Proulx by C. O. Jenne on behalf of the high school team.

Members of the team present were Laurie Rasmussen, Jim Taylor, Dr. Klein, Lindsay Thunell, Stan Ross, Bob Proulx, Bill Masson, Leo Kelly, Albert Glasgow, Art Brown, Larry Proctor, Nick Josephson, Claude McLaren, Bill Taylor, Percy Wilkie and Duncan McArthur.

Guests present representing officials, ticket sellers, executive, Carena Committee, and the Press were Ken Hilliker, Lloyd McIntyre, Eric Morgan, Dave Henderson, Selmer Hasfo, N. Rashbrook, Alvin Golka, C. O. Jenne, H. G. Thunell, W. Stalker, O. Hasfo, Herman Hasfo, L. Carrington, W. D. Place, H. W. Whetstone, Vince Slavik, Dave Tyson, Keith McLaren and Wm. Richardson.

A social hour and get-together was held at the Legion Hall where hockey games and other incidents were recalled, after which a free dance was held in the Community Hall for the public which enjoyed dancing to the music of Joe Dubuc's orchestra.

Jacksons Take in Basketball Finals At Vermilion

On Friday last Jim and Mrs. Jackson motored to Vermilion and visited over the week-end with George and Mrs. Braithwaite and Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson. On Friday night they saw the first game in the two game total score series for High School Basketball Championship of Alberta between the Cardston Cougars and the Vermilion High School team. It was a hard fought game all the way with the Cardston girls emerging victors by 2 points. On Saturday evening they saw the final game which was a championship game in every sense of the word. The first half was fairly close but after that the Cardston team took the lead and the outcome was never in doubt, Cardston winning by a score of 56 to 37.

The games were played in the gym of the Vermilion School of Agriculture to a capacity crowd. Mr. Bently, Principal, presented the Provincial Championship to the captain of the winning team and in a few well chosen words complimented the Cardston players on a hard fought game and on the fine sportsmanship they had displayed throughout.

Mr. Ken Long of Spring Coulee who was one of those driving the Cardston girls to Vermilion and who was associated with Mr. Jackson in AFU for some years, had a daughter Barbara playing for Cardston. It was rather a coincidence that Ken in his graduating year had also been a member of a Cardston team which won the Provincial championship.

While at the school Mr. and Mrs. Jackson met Jack Dubase and Billy Carlisle who were well along in their exams at the VSA and expect to be home in a few days.

Saving The Majestic Whooper From Extinction

According to some naturalists it is "just a matter of time" until there will be no more Whooping Cranes to grace the skies of North America. Yet, it was only a comparatively short time ago that these beautiful, large birds flew in great numbers, unmolested between their summer and winter homes. Now the chances of seeing one on the wing are extremely small.

Naturalists are greatly concerned over this situation, not only because of this particular species of bird is on the very brink of extinction, but primarily because the same tragedy might well, one by one, overtake other forms of wildlife. It has in the past—an example being the Buffalo which used to roam our western plains in great herds.

The sad part of the whole story is that, nearly all forms of wildlife which have now, with the exception of museum exhibits, virtually been temptation of "bagging" such a large prize is too big to turn down. How water level. A depression in the soil held two or three eggs.

Even though a mated pair had a maximum of three eggs in their nest, it was very uncommon for all to hatch, and more often only one bird hatched and survived. This is a factor which now very seriously hampers mankind's attempt to save them from extinction.

Last summer, possible breeding grounds were sighted near Great wiped from the face of the earth, could have been saved from their fate. This could have been managed through education of the public to the need for, and value of conserving the species.

Preserving the Whooping Crane from extinction should be of special interest to the people of this province, for Saskatchewan is the real home and original nesting ground of the bird. It was conservatively estimated there were 1,200 species nesting in this part of the country during the summers of the early 1900's. Now, there are less than 25 in existence.

Nests were situated in large marshes, made of dead vegetation and debris about five feet in diameter, rising a foot or more above the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The Whooping Crane is not a sociable bird, and as a result of settlers penetrating west and north into the province, they were slowly forced into the colder northern regions unsatisfactory for their own reproduction and survival.

The Whooping Crane spends its winters in the coastal regions of Texas and Northern Mexico, so that when migrating they must fly over most of Saskatchewan, Central North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma and Eastern Texas. During this long journey the Whooper must escape adverse weather and guns in the hands of careless and uneducated hunters.

When a Whooping Crane is shot by a hunter nowadays, it is not usually done on purpose, it is more commonly done because the hunter is unable to identify the bird, and the

New Grasses Added To Forage Crop Demonstrations

REGINA.—Three new grasses will be added this year to the forage crop demonstrations of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture.

The demonstrations are conducted by Agricultural Representatives with the assistance of the Plant Industry Branch, this year will include pasture as well as hay demonstrations.

The director of the Plant Industry Branch, R. E. McKenzie, said three grasses recommended for the first time last year for use in Saskatchewan, will be given their first widespread practical tests in the demonstrations. The grasses are intermediate wheat grass, tall wheat grass, and Russian wild rye.

Intermediate wheat grass is a fairly long-lived perennial with creeping roots which has a high yield. Tall wheat grass is also a fairly long-lived perennial with high yield, but is not creeping and requires more moisture. It is tolerant of wet, moderately alkaline soils. Russian wild rye is a long-lived perennial which is not creeping. It is recommended for pasture rather than hay crops because of a heavy bottom growth of leaves. Russian wild rye will be used only in pasture demonstrations.

Seed for up to four demonstrations each for hay and pasture will be supplied to each Agricultural Representative district. Of three plots in each hay demonstration, one will be seeded to grass alone. The others will be seeded to a grass-legume mixture.

Material will also be made available to each Agricultural Representative district for fertilizer demonstrations on hay and pasture projects, pasture improvement with chemicals, hay or pasture demonstrations on low-lying or alkali areas, and soil improvement demonstrations using alfalfa or sweet clover.

Farmers who wish to have one of these demonstration projects located on their land, should contact their Agricultural Representative as soon as possible.

McBride, B.C., Residents Build Own Airport

McBRIDE, B.C.—Residents of this central British Columbia town and district have built their own airport to keep in step with B.C. growth.

Full use of the airport is expected soon. Only single-engine craft have used it so far, but it is said to be capable of accommodating twin-engine planes and future expansion is anticipated.

The present runway is 1,800 feet long and 200 feet wide.

The story of the airport is one of co-operation and contribution—$15,000 donated by district residents and industry; heavy equipment loaned by logging companies; fuel donated by oil companies and labor volunteered by almost everyone.

The strip was laid on land donated by a resident, Adolph Jack, and the construction campaign was laid by D. A. Akker.

McBride has a population of approximately 500.

Forgotten Cheques Total $5,052,000

OTTAWA.—The Income Tax Division has $5,052,000 in unclaimed cheques to deliver to the proper people, Michael Star (PC-Ontario) was informed recently in a Government reply.

It showed that unclaimed cheques dating back over the last few years and now in the possession of various departments of Government are worth roughly $5,052,000 with the great bulk of that consisting of cheques in the hands of the tax division.

They presumably are tax refunds which have never been claimed.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

PARTY LINE

Jim Said, "I've Never Seen
Such Brown Eyes. Lena Is A Funny Name."

By Charlotte McCarthy

THE phone shrilled suddenly, drowning out the ticking of the old clock, and filling the Ritchens with its clamor. Three long and one short. This call was for the new family which had moved recently to the old farm across the valley. Doris had been fairly burning with curiosity and her father had brought the welcome news from town that there were several daughters . . . one around her own age.

Dad had said, at the supper table last night, that she should go over and visit the new folks; let them know that they had moved to a friendly neighborhood. But she thought that she would wait until her mother got her new voile dress finished. Not that she wanted to show off, but someone had seen the oldest daughter at a party and had mentioned that she was real stylish.

Wouldn't it be nice if the one about her age would start keeping company with Bart Stewart, Jim's best friend, and then the four of them could go on picnics together? For instance, when the young men started playing baseball, as they always did in Mason's meadow between mowing and harvest, the two of them could sit on the fence and watch, while Bart and Jim played, instead of listening to the older women talking of pickings and preserving.

Fuming that she hadn't seen Jim in the last few days. Probably busy on his potatoes. She took Jim for granted now, and yet she could still remember how embarrassed and proud she had been the first night he had walked her home from church. Everyone knew that he was her steady fellow, and around here that was as good as an engagement. Only once had she heard of a couple in the valley breaking up after "going steady". That was Irene Deans and Herb Bell . . . he had taken up with a strange girl from town, Irene, who later married a widower from Cedarville, still played the organ in Sunday school. Doris often wondered how she had ever lived it down.

The phone rang again. This time, one long and two short . . . Jim's home. On an impulse, she ran across and eased off the receiver. Evidently Bart was calling. "How'd you make out at the new people's place last night? You picked the one I liked best, too."

Bewildered, she heard Jim's voice: "The old man didn't want to listen at first. Seems she's a pretty young, and he wanted to keep her around. I've never seen such brown eyes. Lena is a funny name . . ."

Well, she had to hang up and the sooner the better. Doris replaced the receiver softly.

"What are you moaning about?" Her mother's voice was loud but cheerful, an anchor in a lost world. "Seems like those weeds grow in a dozen different directions at once." She pushed the battered hat back from her damp forehead, where a strand of greying hair winged in the brown, and smiled at her daughter. "Mum. It was a funny name, I guess."

"Could you and Dad spare me to go to work in town for awhile? I've got to go. Honest."

"What would Jim have to say to that?"

"What's it got to do with Jim? It's his business, isn't it?"

Her eyes, the older woman turned quickly. "Don't you know, honey, if you're set on going, your Dad won't say a word."

"Guess I'll get the cows. The flies down in the pasture were chewing them to pieces when I got them last night." She patted her mother's shoulder with gentle awkwardness. "I'll just have to leave you and Dad."

Going down the path, the tears she could no longer keep back splashed on the front of her dress. Summer was almost over, and the wild roses by the fence were fading fast; their velvety petals, like ghosts of broken dreams, drifting softly to rest.

After the chores were finished, Doris huddled miserably on the back porch. A single star shone over the poplar on the hill, and an owl booted its eternal question from the grove beyond. Suddenly the lithe, square-shouldered form of Jim Porter loomed out of the dusk, and dropped on the step beside her.

"I have news for you, Jim. I've decided to go away to work soon and meet some new folks. I don't intend to spend the rest of my life in the valley."

"Why, Doris?" He peered through the gloom. "I'd always figured you and I'd be married. I even had a surprise for you. That new man has a herd of Jerseys and I bought a little beauty from him . . . sort of cream colored, with the biggest, brownest eyes. He tried to sell me an older cow, but somehow I thought you'd like this one. Name's Lena though I guess it doesn't matter what her name is."

The star was suddenly very near . . . and breath-takingly beautiful. "Oh, but it does matter, Jim." Her hand was warm on his arm, where the smooth muscles rippled under the skin. "It matters a whole lot what the cow's name is!"

Goldfields, Boom Town, Is Being Moved To New Site

SASKATOON. — Goldfields, a ghost mining town since the northwestern Saskatchewan gold rush which it was born pelted out 10 years ago, now is being wiped off the map in the wake of the uranium rush. Remaining buildings in Goldfields, on the north shore of Lake Athabasca 500 miles north of Saskatoon, are being moved across the lake ice to the new, thriving town of Uranium City which sprang up 10 miles away last year during Saskatchewan's record uranium staking rush.

The move symbolizes the switch in importance in Saskatchewan from the "old minerals" to uranium. It also heralds the greatest year so far in the history of the province's development in the province.

In virtually every mineralized location north of the 55th parallel, herds of prospectors and mining men are probing and listening for the uranium. Fabulous claims have been made for many discoveries and even more startling reports are likely to be made as knowledge of more recent finds becomes public.

Near Uranium City, in the 500-square-mile Beaverledge uranium field, two mines are scheduled to go into production early this year, one by the federal Crown corporation, Eldorado, and the other by a private company, Discoveries in the area.

SASKATCHEWAN BOASTS RADIO-ACTIVE HIGHWAY

REGINA. — Existence of what is probably the world's only radio-active highway was disclosed to members of the Saskatchewan Legislature.

James Ripley (L.—Athabasca) told the Legislative public accounts committee that two truckloads of uranium ore from a uranium mine in the Lake Athabasca area were mistakenly dumped into a highway for fill.

The highway is 13 miles long and leads from the uranium mines to the shipping docks on Lake Athabasca, in the northwest corner of the province.

In 1919 it took a British dirigible 108 hours to fly across the Atlantic.

HOW much have automobile insurance rates increased?

- In relation to other car costs they've gone down.
Each $100 of insurance carried takes a smaller portion of the motorist's dollar than ever before.
- But cars are more expensive.
You can't insure the $2,400 car of today as cheaply as the $850 car of 1933.
- So, in dollars, how much have auto rates gone up?
An average of 30% for Public Liability and Property Damage. An average of 60% for full coverage.

WHAT affects the cost of automobile insurance?

- The number of accidents
- The average cost of accidents
- The costs of doing business
- The profit or loss of the insurance company

WHY have rates gone up in dollar cost?

- Because accident rates have been soaring.
Today one person is killed every four hours in Canada—one person is injured fifteen minutes—a fender is smashed every two minutes.

Because accident costs have been soaring.

- A wrecked car costs two to three times as much to replace as in 1933—a damaged car costs twice as much to repair—those fenders every two minutes cost three times as much.
- Because medical and hospital costs have increased an estimated 185%.
The bill for injuries is the highest in history.
- Because average Canadian earning power is up 150%.
That means higher payments to settle "lost time" claims.

THEN HOW have insurance companies kept rates from going much higher?

- By cutting operating costs.
Overhead is higher but operating costs per vehicle have been slashed.
- By losing money.
Auto insurance companies paid out $65,000,000 in claims last year. They lost $6,300,000 doing it.

THE REMEDY

- Reduce accidents.
When the accident rate goes down—unless the cost of each accident goes way up—insurance rates will go down too. Competition makes that certain.

REMEMBER—
The accident that doesn't happen never costs anybody a dime.

There is no better way to store fuel on a farm than in a storage tank!

MORE FARMERS USE Esso FARM TANKS

It's not only a matter of convenience—easy refueling—getting away from the bother of deliveries in drums every few days; an Esso farm tank keeps fuel clean—safe engine wear, assures better performance. It's practically a must for diesel fuel.

There is no waste in refueling. Reduces spillage, cuts down fire hazard—there's less danger of losing buildings and valuable equipment due to fire.

Esso farm tanks are heavy welded steel, guaranteed not to leak. Three sizes: 200—500 and 1000 gals. You'll find an Esso farm storage tank a real asset, every day and in every way.

MUNICIPAL SEED CLEANING PLANTS

Alberta's Municipal seed cleaning plants are providing valuable service. F. F. Parkinson, Alberta Dept. of Agriculture supervisor, reports a total of 960,000 bushels of grain cleaned during the 1951-52 season by the five plants then in operation. Since that time three more municipal plants have been completed and at least five areas are at present organizing with a view to building plants as soon as possible. Plants are now operating at Camrose, Wetaskiwin, Morinville, Westlock, Marwayne, Vegreville, Mundare and Rosebud. This service was made possible by taxpayer co-operation, municipal participation and Alberta Dept. of Agriculture assistance.

As well as cleaning the farmers' seed, these plants act as distributing centres for clean seed. Surplus seed in the district and farmers' requirements are listed by the operator, and seller and buyer are thus brought together. If a shortage of seed occurs, the plants are in a position to bring in carlots of seed, clean it and distribute to the farmers. If a district served by a plant has a seed surplus and some other district is short, the plant can assemble, clean, and ship the surplus to the district requiring it.

Farmers in areas served by municipal plants are advised by Mr. Parkinson not to leave their seed cleaning until the last minute. Avoid the spring rush by making arrangements with your plant manager now, he advises.

MASSEY-HARRIS BUILDS WORLD'S FIRST TEST TRACK FOR POWER FARMING MACHINES

Another milestone in implement engineering progress

In 1952, Massey-Harris took one of the longest forward steps ever taken by a farm machinery manufacturer, toward the development of stronger, longer-lived, better-performing, trouble-free machines for power farming. Massey-Harris built the world's first full scale farm machinery "Test Track", where M-H tractors, combines and other farm machines are being tested, accurately and scientifically, for vibration, fatigue, resistance to shock, resistance to water and dust, stability on slopes, climbing power, traction in mud, steering, torque, weight distribution.

Combined with practical field tests, these scientific track tests conducted under controlled, comparable conditions are providing Massey-Harris engineers with the necessary knowledge to improve design, increase durability, and improve the performance of every M-H machine that runs on wheels.

ANNOUNCING BUICK'S GREATEST CARS IN 50 GREAT YEARS

A General Motors V8

WORLD'S NEWEST V8 POWERS The Super-The Roadmaster

Yes, there's wonderful news about the 1953 Buick SUPERS and ROADMASTERS, too. For instance, they're powered by a completely new V-8 engine with one of the highest compression ratios in the industry. It develops 188 horsepower for Roadmaster, 170 for the Dynaflo-equipped Super, and it's so compact that a new, more manoeuvrable chassis has been built around it!

But no listing of facts and figures can do justice to the phenomenal Golden Anniversary Buicks. No words can really tell you the beauty you see, the comfort you feel, the excitement you experience when you make first-hand acquaintance with these big, beautiful, bounteous Buick Customs and Supers and Roadmasters for '53.

So come in and see for yourself that these are, in simple truth, Buick's greatest cars in 50 great years!

HER you see pictured the Golden Anniversary Buicks—engineered, styled, powered and bodied to be fully worthy of their paragon role in this fifth year of Buick building.

A quick listing of simple facts will reveal just cause for celebration. Let's start off with the new 1953 Buick Custom.

★ It has a newly-designed Fireball Straight-8 Engine. The imperiously upped-up Fireball Straight-8 actually gives the 1953 Custom with Dynaflo even better performance than the 1952 Roadmaster. And this brilliant new performance is achieved with amazing economy and without the need for premium fuel.

★ It has Fireball Horsepower. Engine horsepower per pound has been increased to 130 on Dynaflo-equipped models and 125 on cars equipped with Synchro-mesh transmission for more brilliant performance.

★ It has a compression ratio of 7.6 to 1. New combustion chamber raised compression to 7.6 to 1 with Dynaflo, shorter flame travel for greater power and fuel efficiency.

★ It has a new "Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive." Now adds far swifter, quieter, more efficient gateway to infinite smoothness at all speed ranges.

★ It has GM Power Steering. This year the Buick Custom with Dynaflo Drive offers you the undreamed handling ease of GM Power Steering.

★ It has a still finer ride. The softest, smoothest, most buoyantly level ride that Buick's advanced engineering has yet produced.

Optional at extra cost.

LICENCE DEADLINE SET APRIL 13

EDMONTON—E. R. Hughes, deputy provincial secretary, said Friday sales of 1953 motor licences have been unsatisfactory. He said police will be instructed to start by April 13 prosecution of all motorists still using 1952 plates.

Sales of passenger car licences opened five weeks ago but motorists have shown little interest in purchasing new tabs.

Mr. Hughes warned that the expiry date is next Tuesday and there is no assurance that police will not begin prosecutions immediately after that date.

Minburn Elections

MANNVILLE—Unofficial results indicate that James Panter polled one less vote than Paul Trynchuk in the Minburn MD election held on Monday for Division 7. Out of 6 polls Trynchuk received 173 votes and Panter 172. The election was for one year to fill the unexpired term of Charles Stewart who resigned due to ill health.

In Division 2 Robert Johnston, the Reeve, received a vote of 190 to 64 for Lester Emmott, and was thus re-elected for 3 years.

In Division 3 Wm. Johnston polled 141 votes to 112 for Ernest Anderson. This was for a regular three year term.

These results will not be official until Monday, March 30 when Mr. Ralph Wagner, Returning Officer, will officially declare the results of the elections.

THRILLS of the ROARIN' GAME

Those "Forgotten" Stones

(Contributed)

While curling at the Deer Lodge Club in Winnipeg some few years ago against George Kimberley of Kenora, his third man forgot to throw one of his stones. He asked me what he should do, and I answered, "Play the rock." George then asked if he himself could play the stone, and I said, "Sure go ahead." He walked to the other end and, with hardly a glance, threw the rock through the house, remarking "That's the way forgotten stones should be played."

This same experience happened to us in reverse during the Winnipegspiel when Wilde of the Fort Garry Club insisted that we play a forgotten stone. With a possible five end in sight, we played the stone just about like George Kimberley did, only to have Ship Wilde, with his last stone, intentionally try to bump one of our stones in for shot.

These two incidents, especially the one with Kimberley, have made a deep impression on my thoughts and regard for my fellow man—for in our queer world we cannot go far wrong as long as we have men of like caliber among us.

New Variety Of Barley Licensed For Sale

SASKATOON.—"Husky" a new barley variety developed at the University of Saskatchewan after 15 years of breeding, has been licensed for sale in Canada, Dr. J. B. Harrington, head of the field husbandry department, announced. Formerly known as N x 1-11 (N times one dash eleven), it is a smooth-awned, six-row, white-seeded variety. The new variety is outstanding in yield and bushel weight, has good strength of straw and is rust-resistant.

This is the first important outcome of a barley breeding project begun at the university 15 years ago. Financial assistance was received in the early stages from the Canadian Milling Company and the United Grain Growers, and more recently from the Barley Improvement Institute.

The original objective of the breeding program was to produce a new variety satisfactory to the milling trade, and feed trade and for farm use. While the new variety is an excellent feed barley it is doubtful if it will make milling grades, said Dr. Harrington.

The new variety has shown remarkable performance in co-operation tests in western Canada. In each of the past three years "Husky" has outyielded standard varieties and hybrids being tested. In 12 field plot tests, in each of which every standard variety appeared several times, "Husky" outyielded the best feed barley "Vantage" by 10 per cent. Maturity is the same as "Vantage", mid-season to late.

The breeding program was begun years ago by Dr. Harrington and the testing and evaluation has been carried on by Prof. L. H. Shebeski since 1917.

Limited amounts of seed have been placed in the hands of selected, highly-experienced seed growers to obtain a maximum seed increase. "Husky" will not be available for general distribution until 1954, said Dr. Harrington.

Canadian Soldiers Like Hot Dogs

HANNOVER, Germany.—Hot dogs were selling like hot cakes to Canadian soldiers recently after being introduced to Hannover by the Salvation Army.

The soldiers of the 27th Brigade were unable to buy hot dogs here until Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Hopkinson, of Winnipeg, arrived at the British Red Shield Club.

After searching meat shops for wieners that tasted "right" and coaxed local bakers to turn out the right kind of buns, the Hopkinsons put the familiar "dogs" on the menu.

Relish was something that could not be bought, but the couple solved the problem by rushing up a supply of pickles and adding spices.

"That's not an affliction, madam," replied the doctor, "that's a gift."

It appeared that the little man did know, for he replied in a husky whisper: "Wedding cake!"

"Why are they howling?" he asked the nurse.

"Listen," she said severely, "if you were only a few decades old, without any clothes, out of a job, and owed the government almost $1,700 on the national debt, you'd be howling too."

North Has Infinite Possibilities

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T.—Canada's northland has "infinite" economic and social possibilities, the governor-general said in this buoyant mining community in the Northwest Territories. And he added, its romantic appeal is not overstated.

Mr. Hon. Vincent Massey said in a prepared speech to the Yellowknife Board of Trade and the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy that the north "now" is revealing itself as a land where it needs only energy, determination and ingenuity to build large and thriving communities.

The old bogey of distance has been licked, he said, and the northland's inaccessibility now is a thing of the past. The airplane has solved "the insoluble problem" of distance.

Tests Of Wheat In Far North Show Yield High

EDMONTON.—J. A. Gilbey, officer in charge of the federal agriculture department's experimental sub-station at Fort Simpson, Northwest Territories, says for north wheat yields of from 45 to 50 bushels an acre have been obtained on observation tests.

Fort Simpson is about 825 miles north of Edmonton.

Mr. Gilbey said horticultural crops hold a primary interest in work at the Fort Simpson station. The part played by vegetables in raising the standard of living in northern communities is realized, along with the need of building up scientific data.

Mr. Gilbey said experiments also have been made with forage crops and cereals. The station has a poultry flock and has made a start on hog raising.

The grain observation trials were made with wheat, oats and barley. The station comprises 85 acres, 50 of which are under cultivation.

Mr. Gilbey and his wife are sold on the possibilities of the northland. Mrs. Gilbey was amazed when she first saw the lush wild strawberries and beautiful wild roses the land produces during its average of 86 frost-free days.

There is a pressing need for garden vegetables and potatoes, need which the Gilbeys say will be strong when mineral discoveries bring development of the area and a bigger population.

Northern housekeeping has its advantages and disadvantages, Mrs. Gilbey said. Her sun porch makes a first-class home freezer in the winter and the house boasts the conveniences of indoor plumbing, electricity and telephone.

However a year's shopping has to be done at one time, while the boats are running, and her bread is home-made since the kind that is for sale, baked by an old sourdough who stayed after gold-rush days, costs $1 for three loaves.

Weeklies Are Closer To Readers

OTTAWA.—Daily newspapers are impersonal and apart while the local newspaper "really makes friends and influences people," Associate Defense Minister Ralph Campbell said, here.

Campney told the semi-annual meeting of the directors of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association that the daily newspapers perform a very necessary and useful function.

YOUR RED CROSS WHAT IS IT DOING?

TO SAVE a life is this man's reason for giving his 77th blood donation. For many years this gentleman has been a "Good Samaritan" giving without charge his blood to whoever may have need of it. When the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service started up he was one of the first to enroll as a regular donor.

All across Canada the Red Cross has inaugurated this life saving service. Canadians give and receive blood or plasma freely. In almost every hospital this precious fluid is saving lives and speeding recovery.

Recently, a hockey player in Saskatoon received some 10 transfusions because of a serious accident during a game. This was made possible through the Red Cross Service and there is no obligation to replace the blood or in any way pay for it. The funds for this and other services are secured during the Society's annual campaign for financial support.

Besides supplying free blood the Red Cross operates many other services designed to relieve suffering and promote health among the people of Canada and elsewhere. In any case of human suffering the Red Cross stands ready to serve.

This was dramatically put to the test when flood disaster struck Europe. Before the average person realized that a major disaster had occurred Red Cross had relief supplies on the way.

WIN PRIZES AT CALGARY ELKS SIEP.

L. G. Dobry, Tommy Lantz, Alec McCauley and Johnny Pratt comprised a rink that attended the annual Elks bonspiel held at Calgary last week. It was open to all Elks in Canada but most of the rinks came from Alberta and B.C. points. To make a good spiel short, the Viking rink curled in the finals for the Frides, losing out to the Matt Locke rink of Vulcan skipped by C. J. Robinson. The local boys came home with some beautiful British made sectional mirrors as second prize.

Last Sunday the Montgomery Edmonton Branch of the Canadian Legion staged an invitational one-day bonspiel at the Alberta Avenue rink in which 12 country and 12 city rinks took part. Jack Sullivan, Fred Roddick, Gordon Ash and Bob Thunell represented the Viking branch and came home undefeated. The boys state they had a very enjoyable time.

Heavily loaded trucks and buses have been banned on Highway 14 for the time being.
